Education must have 'much higher priority,' Simon says

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Sen. Paul Simon, ignoring the podium set up for him, choosing to speak from a microphone set up on the floor, faced 150 people gathered to hear him at Township Hall Friday evening.

He said it was their meeting and he was there to answer their questions. He would, he said, avoid making speeches.

Fourteen people took advantage of the opportunity and Simon had answers for each. Yes, he said, we do have a problem with education. In Louisiana the drop-out rate is 46 percent and in New York City it is 61 percent among Hispanics and 57 percent among blacks.

"I can't tell you precisely how this boy down in Louisiana or that Hispanic in New York being denied education hurts a person in Granite City. But instinctively I can tell you that it does. We are all one country."

Simon said that when he spoke to a group of 500 teachers and asked how many wanted their sons and daughters to become teachers only 10 to 15 raised their hands.

"We're the only nation on the face of the earth where you can go from grade school to high school to college to a PhD without ever learning a foreign language. If you wonder why there is a trade deficit, well you can't sell to someone if you don't know their language."

Superintendent, 14 others to share $18,000 in raises

By Paul Guggina
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Superintendent Gib Walmsley and 14 other District 9 administrators have received retroactive raises of about $18,000 for the 1987-88 school year.

The Board of Education approved the increases and adopted a salary schedule for the administrators Tuesday.

Walmsley's new salary is $58,000, up $3,000 from last year. Other administrators received raises ranging from $500 to more than $1,700.

With the increases, the average salary for a District 9 administrator remains more than $3,600 below the state average, Walmsley said.

"All other salary step increases were done in the fall," Walmsley said. "We felt it was important to wait for teacher negotiations to be concluded before we dealt with administrative salaries."

The schedule, which Walmsley said had been loosely adhered to in the past, calls for administrators' salaries to be increased by increments ranging from $500 to $1,100 each year until they reach the top of the scale.

Some salaries have been increased by greater margins to bring all the administrators to levels that are included in the schedule, Walmsley said.

The superintendent's salary is not included in the schedule. It will be negotiated separately each year.

Shirley Stoll, president of the Granite City Federation of Teachers, Local 743, said Friday that the union hadn't studied the schedule yet, but that the teachers might be angry by the board's action. (See RAISES, Page 6A)

Venice 'Clean Coal' vies for U.S. funds

By Edward T. Hearn
P-R-I Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — A $2.5 billion federal program to curb acid rain pollutants could help reverse the decade-long slide of the Illinois coal industry, according to state and federal energy officials.

The Department of Energy is currently reviewing a project in Venice and nine others in the state that are competing for Clean Coal Technology Program money.

Under the two-year-old program, the Energy Department would help pay to create new technologies that would eliminate pollutants from coal emissions, said Lowell Miller, an Energy Department associate deputy assistant secretary.

Four companies — Allison Gas Turbine, Union Electric Co., Foster Wheeler Development, and Bechtel North America — have combined to submit the proposed Venice project. The department plans to reply by November.

The companies are seeking federal funds in Venice for an advanced pressurized fluidized bed combustor. The device would allow companies to burn coal with greater efficiency while reducing their emission of pollutants.

Dr. Sy Ali, an Allison Gas Turbine official, said the total cost of the bed combustor would be about $46 million and it would take about two years to design and build. Allison Gas Turbine, based in Indianapolis, is a division of General Motors.

The new technologies could help the Illinois coal industry rebound because coal-burning industries would be less reluctant to use the state's sulfur-rich coal that releases pollutants into the atmosphere and promotes acidrain formation, Miller said.

Illinois coal, unlike that found in Wyoming and West Virginia, has 3 to 5 percent sulfur. Sulfur (See FUNDS, Page 6A)

Ambulance company responds

MADISON — John Campbell, operator of Campbell Ambulance, the ambulance-service contractor for the City of Madison, attended Tuesday's meeting of the City Council to respond to council and citizen complaints alleging delays in the response to emergency calls.

The council had made repeated requests for Campbell to be there.

Alderman John Hamm III said ambulances have taken up to 45 minutes to respond to calls and that some of Campbell's drivers "don't know their way around town." Hamm said 3rd Ward constituents have told him they would not call Campbell if they needed an ambulance.

Campbell said his company has had some staffing problems lately and cited in defense "the (See AMBULANCE, Page 6A)

Cleanup action in Eagle Park planned

By Valerie Evenden

EAGLE PARK — Thirty-five property owners met Thursday night with State's Attorney Dick Allen to discuss what steps are needed to clean up the nearby dump. A massive fire occurred at the dump May 16 and continued burning for several days.

The group met at the Eagle Park Improvement Association hall after Allen, Don Brichick of the sheriff's staff and Ed Salmond, Venice Township road commissioner, looked over the dump area, commonly known as "no man's land."

Allen reported the area is named Watson Subdivision, Salmond said. Cause of the fire still has not been determined, he said.

The state's attorney promised an investigation will continue. He proposed surveying the property to identify the owners of the individual parcels of land.

The lot owners then will be held responsible for reimbursement to the county for cleanup work, Salmond quoted Allen as saying.

Some "moonshining" may have been going on in that area, Salmond said.

Allen also agreed to take part in a program to rid the unincorporated community of drug abuse, Salmond said.

Efforts also will be made to close Roosevelt Street at the Race Street entrance to Eagle Park, making Roosevelt a dead-end street, Salmond said.

The City of Madison vacated Race Street in 1948 and no one has maintained the road, Salmond said.

Large trucks are using the street as a cutoff from Illinois 203 into Madison, Venice and Granite City instead of using the 20th Street truck route, or coming across the McKinley Bridge to Illinois 3, Salmond said.

The property owners also discussed petitioning the county to enforce the cleanup of vacant lots belonging to absentee owners. High weeds and debris are creating a health hazard, Salmond said.

"If we can get permission from the county to have volunteers who will cut the weeds," he said.

School kitchen flunks state test

MADISON — A review of school lunch programs in District 12 in April revealed unsanitary conditions in the Blair Elementary School Kitchen.

Cafeteria Director Mary Beth Sipes said Thursday that the district had corrected the conditions, which included improper labeling and storage of food supplies and dirty, smelly refrigerators and freezers.

Sipes said she had instructed cafeteria personnel to keep the kitchen clean.

"It's my fault," Sipes said. "I just took for granted that (they) would do it."

Board of Education President John Hamm III said the board was investigating the matter.

The inspection was performed by a division of the Illinois State Board of Education.

Doug Burris: Bowling for bucks and friends

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Bowling alleys are noisy places, from the rolling thunder of the balls and the explosion of the pins to the shouts of the bowlers.

But they're not noisy to Doug Burris. The Granite City kegger approaches the pins in absolute silence.

The sport holds no auditory distractions for Burris because he is deaf.

He is also a champion. Burris, 64, won the $2,000 top prize in the National Deaf Bowling Association's World Deaf Championship last July in Hartford, Conn., and later won another major tourney on the NDBA tour.

Burris is a passionate bowler. For years he has spent his weekends and vacations from his job as a machinist at McDonnell Aircraft Co. competing in upwards of 30 tournaments a year. He has won 21 Deaf Bowling Association classics titles and 41 trophies overall, many in competition with hearing bowlers.

In his youth, Burris started in four sports at the Illinois School for the Deaf in Jacksonville, where he met his wife, Regina.

He is a member of the 700 Club of America, an honor he earned 30 years ago with a 702 series. He is also in the Greater Springfield (Ill.) Bowling Hall of Fame, (Springfield was his home town.) He carried a 196 average for years.

Burris' average is down to 172 now, thanks to a bum knee, but the keen competitor looks back with relish on last year. Burris had seemingly missed his main chance 13 years earlier, when he finished second in the 1974 NDBA world championship, and with his knee worsening, he reckoned it would be '87 or never for him.

Sitting in the living room of his home on Maryville Road, with the pleasant smell of chili cooking in the kitchen and closed-captioned "Jeopardy" on the TV, Burris and Regina, who is also deaf, chatted with a reporter through the interpretation of a hearing daughter, Carol.

The reporter, whose experiences with bowling have been mostly unfulfilling (and leave it at that), wondered if Burris had ever considered whether deaf bowlers have a natural advantage over hearing bowlers, owing to the lack of distractions.

Burris shrugged, as if to say, "I wouldn't know." He has nothing to compare it with, having been deaf from birth.

Burris estimates that the thousands of dollars in prize money which he has won through the years has enabled him to break even on expenses.

How about that, Regina? She shrugged and signed, "It's his money," and got up to get him a glass of draft beer, the beverage of choice for millions of bowlers.

But Burris says he doesn't bowl for dollars alone. He emphasizes the social aspect of his hobby. For the last three years he has been the chairman of the Greater St. Louis Association of the Deaf's annual classic.

"He say he does it just for fun," Carol said. "He likes it, and he likes to go out and meet people. He likes people. When they first got married, he was always off bowling."

PRIZED PLAQUE: Doug Burris holds his most cherished bowling award, the 1987 National Deaf Bowling Association's World Deaf Championship plaque, he won last July in Hartford, Conn.

Burris is a cheerful man, and his wife's eyes seem to glow with deep affection when she looks at him. Even when he turns mischievous.

Burris was asked whether he corresponded with the many friends he has made in his bowling travels. His fingers flashed and Carol laughed, then interpreted.

"No, but he said before he was married he wrote to girls he met." Burris's eyes twinkled and he glanced implicitly at Regina. She rolled her eyes in mock disgust and then smiled at him.

For all his bowling wanderlust, Doug Burris is clearly right in the pocket at home.

Petitions seek vote on health department

Two officials who oppose creation of a Madison County health department began circulating petitions Thursday to let voters make the decision.

Madison County Board member Robert Stille, D-Edwardsville, and Godfrey Township Supervisor Dwight Ruyle are distributing referendum petitions. If they gather more than 600 signatures, the issue will be on the Nov. 8 ballot.

The petitions also call for a tax of 1/10 of 1 percent of assessed property value to support the department.

Ruyle said he is distributing petitions so voters — rather than County Board members — can make the decision.

The county board could consider the issue as early as June 15.

Stille, chairman of the county board's health committee, said he has mixed emotions about the issue, but opposes it.

"We certainly need some of the things that would be offered under such a program," Stille said, "but the problems are not nearly as serious as the proponents would have you believe."

Stille, who is also the supervisor of Edwardsville Township, said the majority of residents he's talked to oppose the idea of a county health department.

"I hope people realize that when they sign these petitions it doesn't mean they favor it," Stille said. "It just means they want to see it on the ballot."

Stille said people should have the right to vote on an issue if their taxes could be raised.

A county health department can be created by resolution of the board or by referendum, in which the voters approve a tax rate to operate a health department.

A health department resolution may be presented during the board meeting June 15. The related tax rate may be smaller than that shown on the petitions.

Ruyle said he will get the petitions circulated throughout Godfrey and in parts of surrounding townships. Stille is circulating petitions in the southern part of the county.

"It looks like we are going to have a state income tax increase, there is apparently going to be a new county administration building, and we are going to improve the Vandalia Bike Trail," Ruyle said. "We can't be all things to all people."

Fire investigated

PONTOON BEACH — An estimated $5,000 to $6,000 damage resulted from a fire at 9:07 p.m. Tuesday in a one-story frame building on Oakmont Drive. The Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department extinguished the blaze by 9:30 p.m.

The property is owned by Jerry Reagan, Granite City, and includes four units with separate addresses.

An investigation into the cause of the fire is being conducted by the Madison County Task Force, a team of arson investigators from various county fire departments. Members of the team remained at the scene until 1:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The fire appeared to have started on the north side of the building at 4066 Oakmont Drive, a unit apparently used for storage, said Long Lake Fire Chief Danny Kreher. Hillside Craft Cabin occupies 4070 Oakmont and a beauty shop is located at 4068 Oakmont.

About five women were attending a toile painting class at Hillside Craft Cabin when the fire was reported.

Pontoon Beach expands again

PONTOON BEACH — Five separate petitions for annexation into the village were approved at the Board of Trustees' May 24 meeting. The action added about 20 acres of land.

Among the newly annexed areas are Lakeside Roofing Company's two-acre property, owned by Joseph V. Arnold and Charles T. Estes, and one acre of land where Spuddy's Tavern formerly was located, owned by Haskell and Janice Pyatt. The couple also owns Buck and Jan's Den, 24th and State streets.

Both Lakeside Roofing and the Pyatts' property are located on Illinois 162, near State and Route 35.

Some discussion preceded the annexation of more than 15 acres located north and east of the Arlington Heights Subdivision.

The acreage includes three separate parcels of property at the end of Shirwin Drive and north of the Arlington golf course.

Two tracts of land are owned by Michael L. Micek and Rebecca Macek and a third tract is

All are zoned agricultural property and were annexed under the village's minor-subdivision ordinance.

The ordinance permits construction of only one residence per acre.

Trustee Don Rea asked why the petitions were tabled at the May 10 meeting. Attorney Keith Jensen said the petitioners used obsolete forms, which did not clearly responsibility for roadways and utility easements.

In the new annexation petition agreement, the village has no commitment for infrastructure work, he said.

Rea asked who will build the streets in the newly annexed areas. Jensen said a roadway goes through the property and the owners have the responsibility to provide private drives to any house not served by the road.

"What I think we're building is another Arlington Heights of upper middle-income, nice homes on pockets of land with no sewers and streets. We should require the developer to do it now," Rea said.

After Jensen explained that the land is coming into the village zoned as agricultural under the minor subdivision ordinance, which does not require any commitment from the village, the annexation petitions were approved.

At the May 10 meeting, a preliminary plan had been approved for Hogan Subdivision, situated in the same general area as the Sasyk and Macek properties and annexed earlier this year.

The Hogan mini-subdivision calls for construction of homes on one-acre tracts.

At the May 10 meeting, the trustees approved a plan for Luehmann's 1st Addition, redesignating that area from agricultural to single-family residences.

The property, owned by Charles Luehmann, is south of Illinois 162 and east of Stallings School. Access roads already are in place, the plat showed.

However, the depth of rear lots on the property did not comply with provisions of the minor subdivision ordinance due to their proximity to Long Lake. A zoning variance was approved prior to the plan being accepted.

Coming of summer means Legion ball

With at least one of the old heroes back in town, the Tri-City Post 113 American Legion baseball team will open its season next Monday.

The Triplets begin District 22 play at Varsity Field with a 6 p.m. game June 13 against O'Fallon. Darin Hendrickson is expected to be the starting pitcher.

Hendrickson was a member of Granite City High School's Class of 1987. He just completed his freshman year at Lewis and Clark Community College in Godfrey. But Hendrickson, Todd Hinterser and Mike Georgeff, although a year removed from high school — are still eligible for one more year of Legion play. Players who haven't turned 19 years of age before Aug. 1 are eligible.

Hinterser, who had a good freshman year at Rend Lake College, might play some for Post 113, but he is looking into the possibility of playing this summer in Kentucky.

Post 113 starts the season with a bang. They are scheduled to play 12 straight nights beginning with the opener. The Triplets are in District 22's North Division along with Alton, Bethalto, Collinsville, Edwardsville, Highland and Troy.

The South Division is Belleville, Cahokia, East St. Louis, Fairview Heights, Marissa, O'Fallon, Smithton and Waterloo. Teams play division rivals twice (home-and-home) and face teams from the other division once each.

The regular season will end July 12. Division playoffs will be July 15-21 with the division winners meeting July 23-24 in a best-of-three series for the District 22 championship. The district winner moves on to the Fifth Division tournament in DuQuoin on July 28-31. The state tournament will be at Alton's Gordon Moore Park on Aug. 4-7.

The District 22 All-Star Game will be in Fairview Heights on July 26.

Gus Lignoul returns for his second year as manager of Post 113. His coaches again are Ralph Burnett and Tom Heinrich. Last summer, Granite City came within one game of winning the North Division Tournament after winning the regular-season division title.

Outside of the league games on the schedule, Granite City could schedule some other non-league games. The Triplets are planning to participate in a "Fourth of July tournament in Highland."

Junior Legion
The District 22 Junior Legion season opened on Saturday when Paul Kacera's Granite City team faced Highland in a double-header.

May was great fishing month

By Larry Bulus

I always look forward to the month of May with great anticipation.

Not only is it one of the more pleasant periods of the year weather-wise, but it also is a great time for fishing. No month can beat October for all-around outdoor enjoyment in my humble opinion, but given a second choice, my vote goes to May. Last month was no exception.

Fishing for almost all species is usually good during May, and even if it isn't, the weather is so delightful it doesn't make much difference. There's a lot of joy in just being outdoors on a cool May morning, with the countryside clad in bright green after a winter of bare, gray-brown trees and matted brown leaves.

A friend of mine who specializes in catching catfish claims that May is one of his most productive months. "I can catch 'em all summer long," he says, "but maybe I like May best because the weather is usually so nice." He just may have something there.

Late May is a tad late for the best crappie fishing, but the first two weeks often find crappie still spawning in shallow water. Even so, it's possible to catch enough crappie anytime during May for er at Dal Maxville Field. The next game is Tuesday at home against East St. Louis.

Granite City's first eight dates are at home, with all home games after the opener to be played at Varsity Field. Granite City is in Division II of the league with Belleville I, Belleville II, East St. Louis and Fairview Heights.

Other divisions are:
Division I: Cahokia, Duplo, Freeburg, New Baden and Waterloo. Division II: Alton, Alton Optimist, Bethalto, Brighton and Koksana. Division IV: Alton Merchants, Collinsville, Edwardsville, Greenville and Highland.

Teams play division rivals twice each and all other league teams once each.

The league playoffs will be July 25-28 with the league championship on July 30-31. The Illinois/Missouri championships will be held Aug. 6-7. The Optimists were eliminated in the division playoffs last year after advancing to the league quarterfinals in each of the previous two years.

We're Sorry!

In this week's Summer Sale circular, we advertised 100 woven shorts sets on page 5 reg. 14.95, sale 10.95. Due to high customer demand, the merchandise will not be available in sufficient quantities. Print short sets will be substituted reg. 13.95, sale 9.99. Rain checks can not be given.

On page 16 we advertised Kordite trash bags 2 boxes for 2.98. This is the price after mail-in rebate. The correct price is 2 boxes for 3.98. You must buy 2 boxes in order to redeem the $1 mail-in rebate.

We regret any inconvenience this may cause you.

Gray presented each honored guest with a gift.

An initiation ceremony was conducted by the ritual team, consisting of Smith, Dulles, Mueller, chaplain, Helen Lipchik, Granite City; conductor, Vera Johnson, Shiloh; secretary-treasurer, Rose Gibson, Collinsville; and pianist, Grace G-

Members voted to donate $50 to the Illinois Eagles Auxiliary Past Presidents' booth, which will be sponsored at the 39th Annual Illinois State Auxiliary Fraternal Order of Eagles Convention in Decatur, June 16-19.

The traveling trophy was awarded to Collinsville for the highest percentage. Checks were presented to Shiloh for the best attendance at the meeting and to Wood River for the most candidates.

The Jerseyville Auxiliary will host the next meeting on a date to be announced later.

Refreshments were served by Florence Stokes, assisted by Ann Kopka, Stella Miller and Helen Mueller.

Sorority honors Engelke

The Legislative Committee of Beta Eta Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society has chosen Georgia Engelke as its "Woman Educator of the Year."

Engelke, a public school teacher for 23 years, has written two books and helped found Granite City's Old Six Mile Historical Society.

Engelke retired in 1973, and in 1976 wrote her first book "Old Six Mile," and organized the Society.

In 1984, the society bought the museum on Maryville Road in Granite City. Also in 1984, Engelke published her second book, "The American Bottom."

Engelke tells the history of the area in other ways. She has been on television. She has spoken at organizational meetings and has given tours for individuals and groups, relating history as they go along. She has given talks in schools and has conducted tours for travelers from foreign countries.

Georgia Engelke

Engelke has also done a great deal of traveling, visiting every state in the United States and has also been to Europe, Asia, China and Japan.

Cloverview attends workshop

Eight members of Cloverview Garden Club attended the annual workshop of District V, Garden Club of Illinois Inc., at the Howard Brown Recreation Center.

A state award of achievement, a purple rosette, was accepted by Mrs. Ray Williamson, Cloverview president, for club activities during the past year.

A certificate of member retention was also presented to the club by District Director Mrs. Dennis Haisler, Collinsville.

Attending were: Mrs. Kenneth Brokaw, Mrs. Clarence Etheridge, Mrs. George Knapp, Mrs. B.C. O'Neill, Mrs. George Stearns, Mrs. Donald Tabor, Mrs. Albert Taylor and Williamson.

At the club's regular meeting, held in the home of Knapp, a luncheon was served.

Members voted to present two wren houses to the Colonial Haven Nursing Home as a civic project.

In a continuing program for planting, the club donated an additional Spirea shrub to further landscape at the Six Mile Historic Museum.

Williamson presided at the meeting and the club collected money in unison. In response to roll call members named a flower mentioned in a song.

The horticulture exhibits were specimens of rhododendrons brought by Stearns and a branch of lilac blossoms was brought by Williamson, with Louise Sedlack giving a comprehensive study on it.

Sedlack said that lilacs thrive in the Midwest soil and climate, and that there are dozens of varieties available. Planting in the fall allows a healthy root system to develop, but spring planting is also fine if the ground is kept moist. Lilacs crave full sun and a southern exposure is best. Gardeners should allow new lilacs to adjust for a year before fertilizing. They should be groomed occasionally and every three years some of the larger stems should be pruned so new growth will start.

Invitations were read the Wood River club for a home garden tour and the Edwardsville Club to its annual rose luncheon.

John Williamson will be hosted by Louise Sedlack at Ervay's restaurant.
